RegClean is a simple registry cleaner that helps you clear your registry of errors and the junk entries that accumulate over time. Just like any other registry cleaner, it also has the ability to backup your registry, can detect registry errors and automatically fix them, and can also clean and repair your system registry. In addition, it will clean the start up list and start menu and uninstall all the unused programs, so that you don't have to worry about them after you uninstall them. However, one of the unique features of RegClean is that it also comes with a number of built in functions. These include viewing and filtering your registry, repair and unrepair and repair all errors, backup your registry, repair system errors and check system health. All of these can be done automatically. With the visual interface it uses, you can quickly scan and repair your registry quickly and easily. It also includes a number of tools that allow you to view the registry in various formats and conditions. The ability to quickly scan your registry and get rid of problems is something that many registry cleaners don't offer and that makes RegClean really stand out from the crowd. The price is also a good one for what is included and for how much you get for it. One of the other reasons why RegClean is a great choice is that it includes a 60 day money back guarantee. It is a relatively new software developer so they have been working hard to get the product out to the public. If for any reason you aren't satisfied with RegClean, you can always try it out for free for 60 days.
